

Human Trafficking

Fall Retreat

Imagine being illegally smuggled into a foreign country and forced to sell your body....this is the experience of millions of people who endure unimaginable brutality every day. The statistics of modern slavery are staggering, and the stories of its victims are shocking. And yet many people don't know that human trafficking exists.

Human trafficking is a multi-billion dollar business and is known as modern day slavery. It is the second largest organized crime and the fast growing worldwide. The victims come from various ethnic groups, ages, gender, and social-economic status. It is a global issue that needs global attention. In order to prepare yourself for the VIH Leadership Development Retreat, research background information on human trafficking in the country studied abroad. Your research should focus specially on what the government and NGOs are doing in the country in terms of prevention and reintegration. You will be asked to give a 5-10 minute presentation at a roundtable and share your findings with a group. The goal of the research is to be able to understand and grasp the universal trends of human trafficking by learning from each other's presentation.

1. What is the government's stance on human trafficking? What kind of services does the government/non-profit organizations provide for victims
2. What kinds of people are being trafficked (gender, age, ethnic group)?
3. Is the country an exporter or importer of victims? What countries do they come from? What countries to they go to?
4. What industries are they being trafficked into (domestic labor, manual labor, prostitution)?
5. What are the root causes of human trafficking with the country in which you studied abroad and globally?
